Will I be required to pay any tax and social contributions at the time of my election to invest my Global Incentive in ESP 2024?

Answer: the Global Incentive and the Matching Contributions will be subject to social security contribution but could benefit from a tax exemption.

The amount of your investment in ESP 2024 (the Global Incentive and the Matching Contribution) which is received as in-kind salary (if any) by virtue of a novation of the employee's employment where the employee waives a portion of his/her cash salary to receive in-kind salary (shares) could be eligible to benefit from a personal income tax exemption, provided that (i) the total similar benefits received in 2024 does not exceed EUR 12,000 and (ii) you hold the shares for at least a three-year period.

Please note that the exemption of EUR 12,000 could apply for beneficiaries having their tax residence in the Autonomous Communities of common territory and in Navarra but not for beneficiaries having their tax residence in Alava, Gipuzkoa or Bizkaia.

In case that an early release case arises and you decide to sell your OVHcloud shares during the first three years of the 5-year lock-in period, the tax exemption will be lost and you will be subject to personal income tax on the fair market value of the OVHcloud shares on the date of their delivery to you (i.e., 15 January 2025) and you will be subject to payment of personal income tax over such amount (plus late payment interest at the rate of 4.0625% -expected delay interest rate for 2024 since the Spanish Budget Act for 2024 has not been approved yet-) at progressive income tax rates ranging from 19% up to 49% (although higher rates may be applicable, depending on the specific Autonomous Region where you are a tax-resident).

If the value of OVHcloud shares granted to you in a calendar year exceeds EUR 12,000, the excess (only) will constitute remuneration in kind and be subject to personal income tax at progressive rates ranging from 19% to 49% (although higher rates may apply depending on the Autonomous Community of your residence).

Please note that the EUR 12,000 exemption only applies for tax purposes. Thus, the full amount of the benefit equal to the Global Incentive and Matching Contribution will be subject to social security contributions to be withheld by your employer at rates¹ of 6.47% for indefinite contracts or 6.52% for fixed-term contracts.

Social security contributions will be withheld by your employer through pay slip deduction from the remuneration in cash due to you in January 2025.

No social security contributions would be payable above the maximum monthly social security threshold (i.e. EUR 4,720.50 per month for the year 2025²).

Will I be required to pay any tax and social contributions if I elect to receive my Global Incentive in cash?

Answer: Yes. The Global Incentive will be subject to the same tax and social security treatment as your salary, taxable by Personal Income Tax at progressive rates ranging from 19% to 49% in 2024.

The Global Incentive will be also subject to social security contributions to be withheld by your employer at rates of 6.47% for indefinite contracts or 6.52% for fixed-term contracts. No social security contributions would be payable above the maximum monthly social security threshold (i.e. EUR 4,720.50 per month for the year 2025).

Your local employer will withhold the applicable taxes and social security contributions from the amount of your Global Incentive at the time of its payment.

Will I be required to pay tax and social charges on dividends?

→ Taxation in France

Dividends distributed by OVHcloud, if any, to Spanish Beneficiaries during the 5-year lock-up period are subject to withholding tax in France at 12.80%.

→ Taxation in Spain

Yes, dividends you receive directly will be subject to taxation by PIT at the following expected tax rates for 2024 (the Spanish Budget Act for 2024 has not been approved yet):

- 19% for the first EUR 6,000;
- 21% on the amount received between EUR 6,000.01 up to EUR 50,000;
- 23% on the amount received between EUR 50,000.01 and EUR 200,000;
- 27% on the amount received between EUR 200,000.01 and EUR 300,000;
- 28% on the amount exceeding EUR 300,000.01.

The French withholding tax may be credited against the Spanish PIT attached to OVHcloud dividends in Spain.

No social security contributions apply.

Your employer is not required to make tax withholdings with respect to dividend amount and you must report the dividend amount and pay taxes individually.

¹ Social security rates for 2025 have not been approved yet.

² The maximum monthly salary threshold will be increased in 2025.

Will the shares held by me be considered for the purposes of a wealth tax?

Yes, the holding of shares could be taxable by the Spanish Wealth Tax, which is an annual tax payable on the total net value of taxable assets at 31st of December of each fiscal year.

This tax has been transferred from the Government to the different Spanish Autonomous Communities, which have approved the corresponding regional laws in this regard.

Therefore, the tax rates as well as the method of payment of the Wealth Tax, will depend on the Autonomous Community in which you are established.

Notwithstanding the above, each resident individual has a tax-free allowance of EUR 700,000 (as stated above, this tax free allowance could vary depending on the Spanish Autonomous Community in which you are established).

Additionally, the obligation to file the corresponding Wealth Tax return would only be applicable, in general terms, for (i) individuals who are required to make a tax payment and (ii) individuals with rights and assets valued over EUR 2,000,000.00, even if they are not required to make any tax payment.

If, according to the preceding paragraph, you are obliged to file the Wealth Tax return, you should file said return, in general terms, within May-June of the year following to the year concerned.

Will I be required to pay any tax and social charges at the time of sale of my shares?

Yes, capital gains calculated as the difference between the sale proceeds and the acquisition price (i.e., the Global Incentive and Matching Contribution, even if you benefited from the EUR 12,000 exemption) would be subject to taxation by PIT at the following expected tax rates for 2024 (the Spanish Budget Act for 2024 has not been approved yet):

- 19% for the first EUR 6,000;
- 21% on the amount received between EUR 6,000.01 up to EUR 50,000;
- 23% on the amount received between EUR 50,000.01 and EUR 200,000;
- 27% on the amount received between EUR 200,000.01 and EUR 300,000;
- 28% on the amount exceeding EUR 300,000.01.

No social security contributions apply.

Your employer is not required to make tax withholdings with respect to capital gain amount and you must report the capital gain amount and pay taxes individually.

Please note that if you do not comply with the 3-year holding period required to benefit from the EUR 12,000 tax exemption, you will be required to file an extemporaneous tax return, with the corresponding delay interests, with the period between the moment of the breach of the holding period requirement and the last day for the filing of the PIT return of the fiscal year when the requirement is breached.

What are my reporting obligations with respect to the holding of my shares, receipt of dividends and sale of shares?

Income derived from the acquisition, holding or sale of shares (as well as, where appropriate, from dividends) should be declared in the PIT return corresponding to the fiscal year in which it has been obtained. The tax return has to be filed, in general terms, within April-June of the year following the year during which you receive the incomes. Finally, you could deduct the payments on account made by the employer on your behalf.

You would be obliged to inform the Spanish Tax Authorities, through the 720 form, of the assets held abroad when the value of the sum of all the following assets exceeds, in one fiscal year, EUR 50,000:

- (i) securities or entitlements representative of share capital or equity of any entity,
- (ii) securities representatives of the transfer of own capital to third parties or,
- (iii) securities contributed to any legal instrument as trusts or similar instruments, for its management, without legal personality but that were capable to act in the business course.

Said value shall be determined, in each case, according to specific rules (e.g., in case of securities representative of share capital or equity of an entity the balance of said securities at 31 December).

Please note that if you have filed said returns in prior fiscal years, you would be required to file this form only if (i) the value of each of the assets mentioned above suffered an increase higher than EUR 20,000, or (ii) you cancel/sale the assets declared in the prior returns.

This return should be filed from 1 January to 31 March of each tax year regarding the assets held abroad in the immediately prior year.
